The Four Main Views of the MILLIENIUM of Rev 20

INTERPRETIVE SCHOOL	BASIC UNDERSTANDING of the MILLENNIAL KINGDOM
Postmillennialism	Through Christian influence, society will continue to improve until it reaches a utopian-like state. Thus, it is believers who will bring in the millennial kingdom. Christ will return after this general period of peace and prosperity has been established.
Amillennialism	The millennial kingdom is not a future, thousand-year kingdom on earth. Rather, it is a spiritual kingdom that refers to Christ's rule in the hearts of His people during the church age. Some amillennialists believe the millennial kingdom is a literal kingdom in heaven, where Christ's saints rule with Him, but they reject the notion of a future, physical kingdom on earth.
Premillennialism	The millennial kingdom refers to a future, physical kingdom that Christ will establish at His return. The kingdom, which will be centered in Jerusalem, will last for 1,000 years, after which this world will be destroyed and replaced by the new earth. This view is the most natural way to understand Revelation 20-22.

Pre-Millennial Dispensational View

Pre-Millennial Historic View

Pre-Millennialist Dispensational

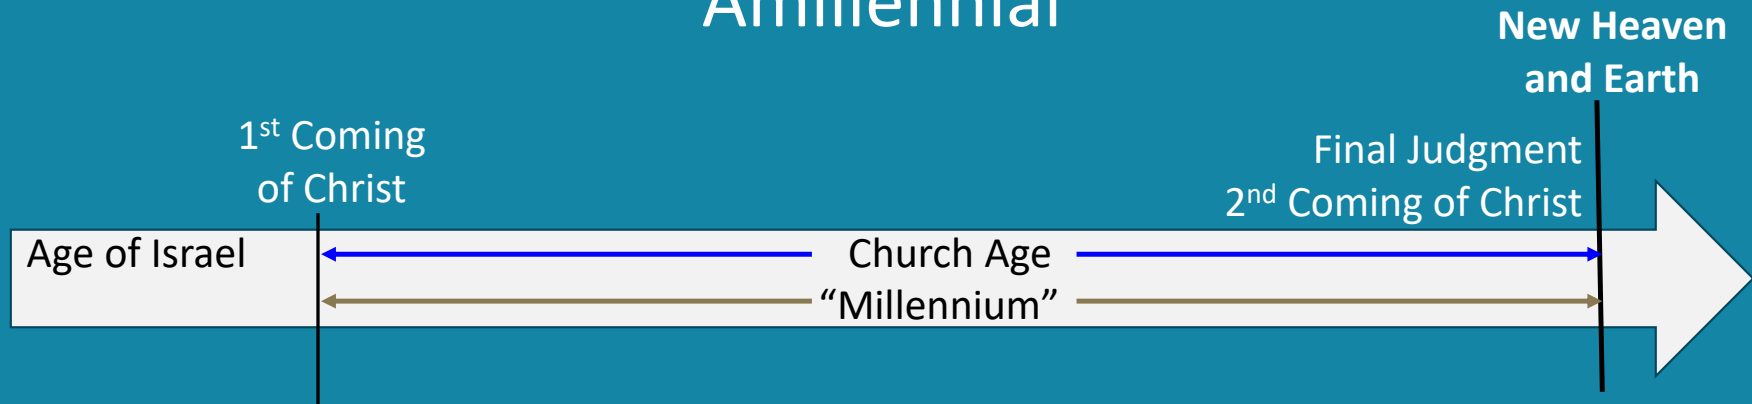

Believe Jesus will remove His people from the earth to heaven in a Pre-Mid-Post-Tribulation "rapture" before a final seven-year period of judgment and tribulation on the earth.

Then Jesus and His people will return, conquer the Antichrist, and establish the thousand-year kingdom.

Pre-Millennialist Historic

Believe Jesus will return to earth and then establish His kingdom after a time of tribulation and suffering on earth.

Views of The Millennium – Matters in Common

- The Bible is the Word of God
- We are saved by grace through faith in the crucified and risen Lord Jesus, not by the correctness of our timing of the Millennium

- Jesus is coming again in power and glory to raise the dead, to rescue and reunite all who have trusted in him, to judge the living and the dead, to bring an end to this fallen world and its effects on our bodies and souls, and to establish a New Heaven and Earth under the perfect and eternal reign of Christ.
